PCT International, Inc. forms North American Sales Subsidiary

GILBERT, AZ, November 1, 2005 — PCT International Inc. (PCT), announced today a reorganization of its North American sales efforts through the formation of a new subsidiary, PCT North America, Inc. (PCTNA). PCTNA was formed to strengthen its alliances with customers, industry partners and the PCTNA management team. PCTNA is headquartered in Denver, Colorado and is lead by John Egan, Jr.

“Over the last eight (8) years, we have worked diligently to create brand awareness for our manufactured PCT product portfolio. We believe the formation of PCTNA further emphasizes the attributes of the PCT brand: innovative design, quality, and customer service,” said Steven Youtsey, Chairman and CEO of PCT International, Inc. “We are very pleased with our North American operations under Mr. Egan’s guidance and believe the new structure will substantially assist him in achieving our growth objectives.”

“I’m very excited about the formation of PCT North America and have been very impressed with the end-to-end global infrastructure of PCT International. I firmly believe the new structure complements the overall organization,” said John Egan, Jr., President of PCTNA. “The PCT product portfolio is the most comprehensive in the industry and provides a very compelling value proposition to our customers. With aggressive sales initiatives, relentless after-sales service, and innovative new products, I am confident we will be the industry leader in each of our target markets.”

In conjunction with this reorganization, ABS North America will no longer exist. All existing customers, vendors, and partners will be seamlessly migrated to PCTNA.
