

May 12, 2006

Dear Valued Customer,

You may be aware of the recent, unprecedented surge of prices in the worldwide commodities markets. As of today, there is no clear indication of when a correction in the commodities marketplace may take place.

We, at PCT International, regretfully inform you that, effective June 1, 2006, we have no option but to raise prices for a majority of our PCT and APiCA products. It is our intention to monitor the situation closely and will adjust prices down when the raw material prices allow us to do so.

In an effort to help mitigate the current situation, PCT is working feverishly on developing similar products that require lesser amounts, or novel types, of materials without compromising our specifications and quality that you been accustomed to receiving. We ask that you seriously consider our alternatives and welcome any acceleration of approvals and or suggestions on how we can better improve our position as your vendor of choice.

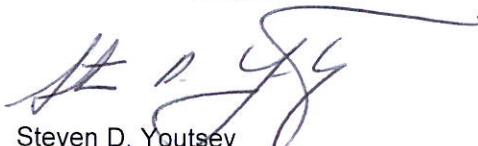

Please see below the twelve month commodity price graphs for aluminum, copper and zinc that represent 95% of our raw material purchases over the last several years.

We will be asking our Sales representatives to contact you within the next few days to discuss the new prices and how we can help each other through these difficult times.

Yours very truly,

PCT International, Inc.

Steven D. Youtsey
Chief Executive Officer