FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PCT International Retains Full Ownership Following Commscope Divestiture, Retains Intellectual Property and Yantai Factory

TEMPE, AZ, USA – May 07, 2008 – PCT International Inc., a global leader in access network and last mile solutions for broadband networks formally announces that Commscope, Inc. has completed the divestiture of its minority holding in PCT. In order for Commscope to complete its acquisition of Andrew Corporation, the United States Department of Justice required they divest their interests in PCT to eliminate antitrust conflicts. As a result of this settlement, PCT has dropped all claims against Commscope. Upon completion PCT will retain all intellectual property, the "Z-Wire" trademarks and rights to the 75 ohm coaxial cable portfolio it acquired, along with the manufacturing facility in Yantai, China, in April of 2007 from Andrew Corporation.

"PCT strategically sought a premium grade coaxial cable to bundle with its existing line of drop products. This strategy came into question when Andrew sold itself to Commscope," asserts Steve Youtsey, President and CEO of PCT International Inc., "We are extremely pleased with this result and for the support shown to us by our customers and the Department of Justice." As of April 2008, PCT has successfully branded the 75 ohm cable portfolio to its own name, discontinuing the use of any and all Andrew trademarks.
